OCCUPATION Water Resource Specialist

I am Scott Clark and I am running for the Cache Water District Board of Trustees South District. My wife Carol and I have lived and raised our family in Cache Valley for 34 years. My education is in geology and hydrogeology, and I have worked for 33 years in water rights and water resources in Utah. I worked for 14 years with the Utah Division of Water Rights in the Logan Regional Office, 11 years with the water rights consulting firm Barnett Intermountain Water Consulting and am currently employed with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints as a Water Resource Specialist assisting the Church in managing and protecting the Church's portfolio of water assets.

I previously served on the Cache Water District Board of Trustees representing Logan District #1 from 2018 through 2022. In 2022, we moved out of Logan District #1 to Hyrum, Utah requiring me to step down from the Board. I look forward to serving on the Cache Water District Board of Trustees representing the South District and providing my background and expertise in assisting the District in managing and protecting the water resources of Cache Valley for the future benefit of its residents.
